A Message

from Mr. Pavlos Mylonas,
Chief Executive Officer

Dear colleagues and business partners,

Throughout its long history, the National Bank of Greece has always strived to conduct business in line with the highest ethical standards. To that end, the reviewed Code of Ethics sets the principles and values that are fundamental to the corporate culture of NBG Group, harmonized with the applicable legal and regulatory framework and international best practices.

As the Bank has entered into a course of change and evolution, and given the rapid developments in the financial sector and society in general, it is of utmost importance that each and every one of us thinks and acts in a way that reflects the Bank's business ethics and values. Considering developments, and the new era the Bank has entered following the initiation of its Transformation Program, an extensive exercise has been conducted to redefine the Bank's Purpose and Values, considering throughout this process feedback provided by the Bank's Board of Directors and Executives as well as externally by Bank's customers and with the aim of preserving traditional values and long built values and relations of trust and further adopting emerging values reflecting agility and responsiveness to new customer needs.

It is the Bank and Group's aim to be the first choice for customers, employees, shareholders, as well as to continue contributing to society. The Code is not exhaustive, and it is true that ethical behavior does not simply happen. It needs to be cultivated at all levels throughout the Bank and Group.

Understanding and complying with the Code is a personal responsibility. Employees are encouraged to raise any question or issue with regard to the Code and the procedures set hereby. When faced with a dilemma, violation or concern, do not hesitate to report or seek guidance, in accordance with procedures the Bank has in place.

Abiding by the principles set by the Code and cultivating values such as integrity, honesty, transparency, credibility, open communication and accountability is the key to strengthening the Bank's presence in the Greek economy and society, enhancing the relationships with stakeholders, as well as creating a working environment that promotes cooperation, trust and meritocracy.

Yours sincerely,

Pavlos Mylonas

ETHICS

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. About the Code

Since the establishment of National Bank of Greece in 1841, the Bank has played a key role in the Greek economy and society. In that context, the Bank is committed to abiding by and promoting principles and values of the highest ethical caliber.

The NBG Group Code of Ethics (hereinafter "the Code"), approved by the Board of Directors, sets out clearly the ethical moral principles and values, as well as the rules of conduct upheld by the Bank and Group.

1.2. Whom it concerns?

The present Code applies to all Board members, Senior Management officers and employees of the Bank, under any kind of employment relationship, as well as any third party collaborating with the Bank or a Group company, either within the context of providing services or performing a project (including associates, vendors, intermediaries, agents and any other entity cooperating with NBG within the context of outsourcing or other kinds of agreements).

1.3. Why we need it?

The Code serves as a valuable point of reference, contributing substantially to the protection of the interests of employees, customers and shareholders on the basis of clearly stated governance structures, while ensuring, at the same time, that the reliability, solvency and reputation of the Bank and Group are reinforced.

It also provides the necessary guidelines for taking the right decisions in compliance with the corporate governance rules and the legal and regulatory framework of the countries where the Group is active. The Group companies are therefore obliged to have in place a relevant Code, adjusted to the institutional framework applicable from time to time.

It is essential that the requirements of the Code are understood and that the principles and values set out therein are properly observed and implemented.

The NBG Group Corporate Governance Division may be addressed with any inquiries regarding the content of the Code.

1.4. Publication of the Code

The Code is available on NBG's website (www.nbg.gr) in Greek and English. The Code shall also be available at NBG branches/points of service. The Bank thereby seeks to enhance transparency, as every interested party has the opportunity to access and assess the core values, rules and principles that govern the operation of our Group.

It is noted that in case the provisions of the Code are stricter compared with those of the applicable legal and regulatory framework, the provisions of the Code shall apply.

1.5. Revision of the Code

The Executive Committee reviews the Code pursuant to proposal by the NBG Group Corporate Governance Division, whenever required, or at least every three years in order to ensure its appropriateness vis-à-vis the principles adopted and the rules implemented by the Group, as well as the applicable legal and regulatory framework and international best practices.

A relevant proposal is forwarded to the Compliance, Ethics and Culture Committee of NBG's Board.

In the event that the Code is modified, the Bank and the Group companies provide for the prompt disclosure of the revised Code to the staff in any way the Bank sees fit (for example, via Intranet - training processes/courses).
